NOTES R21 DX R21 DX-1 Image: Construct of the state of
DX-1	NOTES
DX-2 99308 CPT 99401 CPT-1 99401 CPT-2 Follow-up for Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption. HPI A 71-year-old male with a medical history of Diabetes mellitus, Cellulitis, crebral infarction, muscle weakness, and hypertension. The patient was seen today for a Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption on bilateral feet. The patient was lying in bed with no signs or symptoms of distress; The patient denied headache, chest pain, abdominal pain, nausea or vomiting, fever, or any other symptomatology. The patient was educated about the importance of taking the medication as prescribed and the implications of not taking the medication. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding. Allergies No known allergies Current Medications Nystatin completed ICD-10 Diagnosis R21 Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption Antibiotics Nystatin completed Other recommendations The patient should keep the affected skin clean and dry, avoiding excessive scratching to prevent further irritation or infection. Wearing loose-fitting, breathable clothing can help reduce discomfort. Monitoring for worsening symptoms, such as spreading rash, pain, swelling, fever, or signs of infection, is essential, and medical attention Should be sought if these occur. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding. CPT code (s) 99308, 99401 Confirmed	DX	R21
CPT 99308 CPT-1 99401 CPT-2 Chief Complaint (CC) Follow-up for Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption. HPI A 71-year-old male with a medical history of Diabetes mellitus, Cellulitis, cerebral infarction, muscle weakness, and hypertension. The patient was seen today for a Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption on bilateral feet. The patient was lying in bed with no signs or symptoms of distress; The patient denied headache, chest pain, abdominal pain, nausea or vomiting, fever, or any other symptomatology. The patient was educated about the implications of not taking the medication. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding. Allergies No known allergies Current Medications Nystatin completed ICD-10 Diagnosis R21 Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption Antibiotics Nystatin completed Other recommendations The patient should keep the affected skin clean and dry, avoiding excessive scratching to prevent further irritation or infection. Wearing loose-fitting, freer, or signs of infection, is essential, and medical thention Should be sought if these occur. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding. Current Medications Nystatin completed Other recommendations The patient should keep the affected skin clean and dry, avoiding excessive scratching to revsent furth	DX-1
CPT-1 99401 CPT-2 Enter Complaint (CC) Follow-up for Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption. HPI A 71-year-old male with a medical history of Diabetes mellitus, Cellulitis, cerebral infarction, muscle weakness, and hypertension. The patient was seen today for a Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption on bilateral feet. The patient was seen today for a Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption on bilateral feet. The patient was educated about the importance of taking the medication. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding. Allergies No known allergies Current Medications Nystatin completed ICD-10 Diagnosis R21 Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption Antibiotics Nystatin completed Other recommendations The patient should keep the affected skin clean and dry, avoiding excessive scratching to prevent further irritation or infection. Wearing loose-fitting, breathable clothing can help reduce discomfort. Monitoring for worsening symptoms, such as spreading rash, pain, swelling, fever, or signs of infection, is essential, and medical attention Should be ought if these occur. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding. CPT code (s) 99308, 99401 Confirmed YES § 19	DX-2
CPT-2 Chief Complaint (CC) Follow-up for Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption. HPI A 71-year-old male with a medical history of Diabetes mellitus, Cellulitis, cerebral infarction, muscle weakness, and hypertension. The patient was seen today for a Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption on bilateral feet. The patient was lying in bed with no signs or symptoms of distress; The patient denied headache, chest pain, abdominal pain, nausea or vomiting, fever, or any other symptomatology. The patient was educated about the implications of not taking the medication. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding. Allergies No known allergies Current Medications Nystatin completed ICD-10 Diagnosis R21 Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption Antibiotics Nystatin completed Other recommendations The patient should keep the affected skin clean and dry, avoiding excessive scratching to prevent further irritation or infection. Wearing loose-fitting, breathable clothing can help reduce discomfort. Monitoring for worsening symptoms, such as spreading rash, pain, swelling, fever, or signs of infection, is essential, and medical attention Should be sought if these occur. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding. CPT code (s) 99308, 99401 Confirmed YES $ 19	СРТ	99308
Chief Complaint (CC)Follow-up for Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption.HPIA 71-year-old male with a medical history of Diabetes mellitus, Cellulitis, cerebral infarction, muscle weakness, and hypertension. The patient was seen today for a Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption on bilateral feet. The patient was lying in bed with no signs or symptoms of distress; The patient was educated about the importance of taking the medication as prescribed and the implications of not taking the medication. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding.AllergiesNo known allergiesCurrent MedicationsNystatin completedICD-10 DiagnosisR21 Rash and other nonspecific skin clean and dry, avoiding excessive scratching to prevent further irritation or infection. Wearing loose-fitting, breathable clothing can help reduce discomfort. Monitoring for versening symptoms, such as spreading rash, pain, swelling, fever, or signs of infection, is essential, and medical attention Should be sought if these occur. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding.CPT code (s)99308, 99401ConfirmedYES$19	CPT-1	99401
HPIA 71-year-old male with a medical history of Diabetes mellitus, Cellulitis, cerebral infarction, muscle weakness, and hypertension. The patient was seen today for a Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption on bilateral feet. The patient was lying in bed with no signs or symptoms of distress; The patient denied headache, chest pain, abdominal pain, nausea or vomiting, fever, or any other symptomatology. The patient was educated about the importance of taking the medication. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding.AllergiesNo known allergiesCurrent MedicationsNystatin completedICD-10 DiagnosisR21 Rash and other nonspecific skin eruptionAntibioticsNystatin completedOther recommendationsThe patient should keep the affected skin clean and dry, avoiding excessive scratching to prevent further irritation or infection. Wearing loose-fitting, fever, or signs of infection, is essential, and medical attention Should be sought if these occur. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding.CPT code (s)99308, 99401ConfirmedYES$19	CPT-2
Cellulitis, cerebral infarction, muscle weakness, and hypertension. The patient was seen today for a Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption on bilateral feet. The patient was lying in bed with no signs or symptoms of distress; The patient denied headache, chest pain, abdominal pain, nausea or vomiting, fever, or any other symptomatology. The patient was educated about the importance of taking the medication. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding.AllergiesNo known allergiesCurrent MedicationsNystatin completedICD-10 DiagnosisR21 Rash and other nonspecific skin eruptionAntibioticsNystatin completedOther recommendationsThe patient should keep the affected skin clean and dry, avoiding excessive scratching to prevent further irritation or infection. Wearing loose-fitting, breathable clothing can help reduce discomfort. Monitoring for worsening symptoms, such as spreading rash, pain, swelling, fever, or signs of infection, is essential, and medical attention Should be sought if these occur. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding.CPT code (s)99308, 99401ConfirmedYES$19	Chief Complaint (CC)	Follow-up for Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption.
Current MedicationsNystatin completedICD-10 DiagnosisR21 Rash and other nonspecific skin eruptionAntibioticsNystatin completedOther recommendationsThe patient should keep the affected skin clean and dry, avoiding excessive scratching to prevent further irritation or infection. Wearing loose-fitting, breathable clothing can help reduce discomfort. Monitoring for worsening symptoms, such as spreading rash, pain, swelling, fever, or signs of infection, is essential, and medical attention Should be sought if these occur. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding.CPT code (s)99308, 99401ConfirmedYES$19	HPI	Cellulitis, cerebral infarction, muscle weakness, and hypertension. The patient was seen today for a Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption on bilateral feet. The patient was lying in bed with no signs or symptoms of distress; The patient denied headache, chest pain, abdominal pain, nausea or vomiting, fever, or any other symptomatology. The patient was educated about the importance of taking the medication as prescribed and the implications of not taking the medication. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and
ICD-10 DiagnosisR21 Rash and other nonspecific skin eruptionAntibioticsNystatin completedOther recommendationsThe patient should keep the affected skin clean and dry, avoiding excessive scratching to prevent further irritation or infection. Wearing loose-fitting, breathable clothing can help reduce discomfort. Monitoring for worsening symptoms, such as spreading rash, pain, swelling, fever, or signs of infection, is essential, and medical attention Should be sought if these occur. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding.CPT code (s)99308, 99401ConfirmedYES$19	Allergies	No known allergies
AntibioticsNystatin completedOther recommendationsThe patient should keep the affected skin clean and dry, avoiding excessive scratching to prevent further irritation or infection. Wearing loose-fitting, breathable clothing can help reduce discomfort. Monitoring for worsening symptoms, such as spreading rash, pain, swelling, fever, or signs of infection, is essential, and medical attention Should be sought if these occur. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding.CPT code (s)99308, 99401ConfirmedYES$19	Current Medications	Nystatin completed
Other recommendationsThe patient should keep the affected skin clean and dry, avoiding excessive scratching to prevent further irritation or infection. Wearing loose-fitting, breathable clothing can help reduce discomfort. Monitoring for worsening symptoms, such as spreading rash, pain, swelling, fever, or signs of infection, is essential, and medical attention Should be sought if these occur. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding.CPT code (s)99308, 99401ConfirmedYES$19	ICD-10 Diagnosis	R21 Rash and other nonspecific skin eruption avoiding excessive scratching to prevent further irritation or infection. Wearing loose-fitting, breathable clothing can help reduce discomfort. Monitoring for worsening symptoms, such as spreading rash, pain, swelling, fever, or signs of infection, is essential, and medical attention Should be sought if these occur. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized understanding.CPT code (s)99308, 99401ConfirmedYES$19	Antibiotics	Nystatin completed
Confirmed YES $ 19	Other recommendations	avoiding excessive scratching to prevent further irritation or infection. Wearing loose-fitting, breathable clothing can help reduce discomfort. Monitoring for worsening symptoms, such as spreading rash, pain, swelling, fever, or signs of infection, is essential, and medical attention Should be sought if these occur. Education was given on the significance of hand washing and daily showering. The patient verbalized
$ 19	CPT code (s)	99308, 99401
	Confirmed	YES
Count 1	$	19
	Count	1